Mrs. Mahala Carson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dick Cummins.

Dr. S. I. Whitehead, of Norton, Va., passed through to Louisville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Landrum have had a very sick baby for several days.

Mr. D. N. Williams is visiting the gold fields in the Eastern part of the county.

Rev. F. P. Gates writes from Indiana that he is having a most delightful visit.

Sam Pennington will probably take a position with J. Thos. Cherish at Brodhead.

Miss Ruby Whitehead, of Norton, Va., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Luana Whitehead.

Cashier W. L. Richards is in Gallatin county this week, looking after some business interests.

J. E. Houk and daughter Thelma, sister Mary and Miss Winnie Adams left for St. Louis Wednesday night.

Atty. B. J. Bethurum, Republican elector for the Eighth district, has been making speeches in several of the counties this week.

One of the most ardent admirers of the World's Fair we have seen is Miss Alice Lewis who has just returned from her second visit.

Conrad Hiatt was here Monday and told us that his father, Per Hiatt, who suffered a stroke of paralysis some time ago, is no better.

W. T. Taylor, of Bee Lick, a splendid citizen and one of the best Democrats in the world, was a pleasant visitor at this office yesterday.

Harve Steele, of London, selling farm rights for a patent fence, spent some time in the county this week. He has a good fence and is meeting considerable encouragement.

LOCAL

Mrs. Mary Townsend, widow of the late William Townsend, died at her home in Hamilton, Ohio, Friday. The remains were brought back to this county for burial.

MARRIED.—Miss Mary A. Head and Mr. Charley Cheek, of the western part of the county were married in the parlor of the Miller Hotel yesterday, the Rev. Jas. M. Cummins.

Louis Miller, agent for Louisville Post, is one of the hustling news agents of the town. He is always out bright and early, and his papers are delivered to every subscriber by the time they are ready to read the morning news.

We wish to call attention to the announcement of W. H. (Dick) Morris, as a candidate for Jailer, which appears in this issue. Mr. Morris is one of the very best citizens of our county, and is receiving the support of many of the voters.

Marriage license was issued this week to A. B. Cole, of Laurel county, and Miss Maggie Loeman, of Livingston.

The local Republican orators, politicians and candidates are on the go day and night. There have been speeches made at almost every school house in the county.

DEAD.—Mrs. Chestnut, widow of the late Rev. Jim Chestnut, died last Friday afternoon at the ripe old age of 84. The burial took place Saturday at the Cove burying ground.

TAKEN UP.—One black burrow, weight about 100 lbs. came to my premises July 20, 1904. Owner can obtain same by paying all damages. F. M. HUNT, Mareburg, Ky.

P. L. Nash and John Coffey have sold their interest in the farm on which Mr. Nash lives, to the Kentucky Freestone Co. Mr. Nash tells us that he will move to Madison county about January first.

LOST.—Somewhere in the town of Brodhead, a pocketbook with $75.00 in paper money. A liberal reward for its return.

R. W. DALLAS, Brodhead, Ky.

Remember next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be your last opportunity to register. If you have not registered go before the county Court Clerk on one of those days and do so.

Lee Tate, an old Lancaster boy well remembered by our people, is a candidate for county clerk, of Rockcastle. Lee moved to that county some years ago, and has been quite prominent in political and business circles. His Lancaster friends hope he will win in a walk.—Central Record.

Judge Jarvis has called a special term of court for December. It will begin the first Monday in December and continue three weeks. The entire time will be devoted to civil work and it is doubtful whether they will be able to anything like clear the docket, as as there has hardly been a civil suit tried in the last two years.

Every few days, someone informs us that some friend or relative, told them to tell us that if they owed anything to let them know and they would pay it. To those who are kind enough to deliver themselves we are always very thankful, but to those sending it we would suggest that it is always much better to communicate direct to the office, oftentimes preventing mistakes thereby.

Mrs. James Adams died yesterday morning. For nearly twenty years Mrs. Adams has been in very poor health, but had been confined to her bed only since Friday. The husband and four children, Mrs. Charley Simpson, Charley and Abe Adams of this county and Tommy Adams, Georgiana, Ala., survive her. The burial will take place to-day at the home beside her son, Dudley, who preceded her only a few months.

John Smith, son-in-law of David Hysinger, died Wednesday night of erysipelas and pneumonia fever. His death came as quite a surprise, as but few outside of his immediate family even knew that he was sick. It was only last Saturday that he was in town and called at the drug store for medicine for his head which he thought was due to a deep cold. Mr. Smith was formerly of Tennessee, and was a splendid citizen. His remains were laid to rest in the Mareburg burying ground.
